Sheriff Gellatly and Deputy McGinniss are out this morning beating the brush endeavoring to locate one Harry Wilson, a prisoner from Lincoln county who was sent over here about a month ago for safe keeping. It seems that ever since landing in Corvallis this man Wilson has been working the confidence game and so nicely has he played on the Sheriff that many liberties were granted him as a trusty. Instead of close confinement in the dingy little jail he has been permitted to step out in the sunshine and inhale the Japan current carried on ocean breezes and so thoroughly has he enjoyed it that he is still a high stepper in pursuit of the mystic beauties of nature. As the edict had gone forth to clean up and rid the town of trash he evidently inferred it included the jail and acted accordingly. He left about 9 o'clock yesterday morning. He was here awaiting the action of a Lincoln county grand jury having been bound over for assault on his father-in-law. Perhaps the sheriff may be liable to some censure for granting too much liberty and it will give him a lesson not soon to be forgotten.

CRISP'S GOOD LUCK.

Three Women Have Taken New Jersey Policeman Abroad.

WILL RETURN IN THE AUTUMN

Reward of the Misses James of Trenton, N. J., For Officer, Captor of a Burglar Who Entered Their Home. Will Accompany Him Throughout Tour of Europe.

Numberless policemen have won medals for bravery and devotion to duty, but Policeman Hamilton Crisp of the Trenton (N. J.) police force is the first to be rewarded with a trip to Europe for displaying his courage on one specific occasion. The occasion in question was when he caught a burglar who had the temerity to enter a house on Greenwood avenue which has long been the home of the James sisters—Emma, Lillian and Mary—maiden women who have amassed a fortune conducting a private school for girls.
The burglar was scarcely in the lookout before the Misses James had planned a novel reward for the plucky policeman. They decided that he should see Europe and that they should accompany him on the trip to see that he didn't get lost while patrolling Piccadilly and the Avenue Bois de Boulogne. The Misses James and their precious charge were passengers on the Merion of the American line, which steamed from Philadelphia the other day.

Crisp has been the happiest man in Trenton since the three women announced that they were going to take him with them and keep him abroad for three months. He felt so light hearted and light headed he had to walk sideways to keep from flying. He told all his friends that he was afraid to go to sleep for fear he would wake up and find his ocean voyage changed into an ordinary ferryboat trip. He is the envy of every policeman on the force.

Many policemen have asked to be transferred to Crisp's old beat during his absence in the hope that burglars may give them a chance to show that they are entitled to a trip across the ocean.

The three James sisters are the last of one of Trenton's oldest families. When they close up their school each year they go to Europe and remain for the summer, returning in time to receive their pupils for the fall term.

Owing to their well known aversion to notoriety every attempt was made to keep the matter a secret, but it became known when Crisp asked the board of police commissioners for leave of absence. He takes the three months' vacation at his own expense.

The fact that his pay will be cut off does not bother him, because he is said to have a large bank account. He is the only policeman in the city of Trenton who can afford an automobile, and on his day of rest he tours the streets in his machine. He is single. Among other accomplishments, he is a good singer and an all around athlete.

"If I brought back all the things I have been asked to bring back it would take the American fleet to carry them," said Crisp just before he started for Philadelphia. "All my friends want souvenirs of the trip. The Irish members of the department want shillalabs, the Germans want steins, and one fellow had the nerve to ask me to bring him a camel. All my women friends have requested handkerchiefs, collars and stuff like that. When I strike Trenton again I'll look like an old clothes man, because I'm going to try to remember everybody." — New York Herald.

TARIFF ON BALLOON LINE.

Round Trip In One Car $65, In Another $115, Says Aero Club Schedule.

A price list of ascensions for the 1909 season was recently issued by the directors of the Aero Club of New England, says a Boston dispatch. To go up in the balloon Boston, the smaller of the two balloons owned by the club, will cost $65 for one passenger with a pilot. For one passenger to make an ascension with the pilot in the balloon Massachusetts will cost $115. The club notice says that these fees include all expenses, except those to the place of ascension and home from whatever place the balloon may land. The club furnishes the pilot without extra charge.

The committee in charge of ascensions is composed of Charles J. Glidden and H. Helm Clayton, and they now have a waiting list numbering forty-two members of the club and friends who desire to go ballooning.

TAFT'S SUMMER CAPITAL.

Home For President at Beverly One of Massachusetts Coast's Beauty Spots.

The cottage which President and Mrs. Taft are to occupy this summer at Beverly, Mass., is two stories and a half, painted green. Around it are trees and shrubbery and stretches of well kept lawns, and the place is one of the beauty spots along the shore. Entrance to the estate is from Ober street and is guarded by two great stone posts, the cottage itself being hidden from the traveled way by the trees, although it is but a few minutes' walk in.

There is a great covered porte-cochere over the private driveway leading to the house. Running around on three sides is a wide veranda, and on the ocean side is a tower crowned with a dome and with windows nearly all around on the third floor. There is a veranda leading from the second story on the ocean side of the house over the dining room, which can be reached from every one of the bedrooms.

From the hall on the Beverly side of the cottage one enters the great living hall on the left. The hall is lighted by glass doors, which open on the veranda on the ocean side, and four stained glass windows over the landing on the main staircase. The living room is finished in paneled sycamore, with a tapestry paper running to the ceiling molding. From the living room the staircase leads to a balcony, around which are the chambers, six in number, on the second floor. A chandelier hangs from a paneled ceiling.

From the living room to the right is the music room, finished in white. There is a beautiful library on the left, finished in cherry, with a telephone and other tables.

On the second floor, from which entrance is made from the balcony, are the chambers, all with ocean views. These are for the most part finished in white. The beds are of brass, and the furnishings are complete. Bathrooms connect with the chambers. On the third floor are a number of guest chambers, all equally well furnished.

From the living room on the left is the dining room, about 35 by 18, with windows opening on the ocean. The dining room is finished in paneled English oak to the height of four feet, and the paper is a tapestry, with a heavy white cornice at the ceiling. The dining table, the Chippendale buffet and the colonial chairs are all in mahogany. There is a comfortable fireplace in this room. The cottage is lighted by electricity and has every modern convenience. The stable can accommodate half a dozen horses and still furnish room for a large and well equipped garage.

Should President Taft desire to play golf he will find the Montserrat golf links two miles away, the Hamilton Golf club four miles and the Essex Golf club seven miles. The Myopia Hunt club is six miles away and has wooded roads exclusively for horseback riding. In the village, one mile away, are both Episcopal and Unitarian churches.

WORLD'S BIGGEST ENGINES.

Two on Their Way to California Weigh Nearly 300 Tons Each.

The two largest locomotives in the world, intended for the use of the Southern Pacific in the southwest, were recently in Chicago making their leisurely way toward California. The engines are intended to haul freight across the mountains. They are practically twice as large as the ordinary big freight engine, measuring ninety-two feet, locomotive and tender.

There are eight drive wheels on the side, coupled in sets of wheels, with a high pressure drive on the rear four and a low pressure cylinder action on those ahead. The big locomotives are in fact two engines which have been combined and made to work in unison. The total weight of each locomotive is 430,000 pounds, of which 390,000 pounds rest on the driving wheels. The tender, which rests on eight wheels, weighs 170,000 pounds, loaded, so that the total weight of engine and tender is approximately 300 tons. The locomotives burn fuel oil and work at 200 pounds steam pressure. A superheater is provided for drying the steam after passing from the high pressure cylinders and before it enters the low pressure cylinders, and the boiler is provided with a separate chamber in which the feed water is heated to a high temperature.

WATER GUN FOR SCORCHERS.

Hammond (Ind.) Auto Speeders to Be Stopped by Three Inch Stream.

The police of Hammond, Ind., have devised a new plan to quench the ardor of the motor car scorchers, whose favorite stretch for speeding is Calumet avenue. Midway along this thoroughfare a field telephone will be installed, and an officer there will send information to the farther end of the approach of a violator of the speed ordinance.

Here will be established a water gun with a three inch nozzle and 100 pounds pressure to the inch. On the refusal of the chauffeur to stop when ordered a stream will be turned upon him with a force sufficient to lift him out of the machine without inflicting serious injury.

Drama to Last Five Evenings.
Count Tolstoy's novel "War and Peace" is now being dramatized at St. Petersburg and will be staged by permission of the court officials at the Imperial Opera. The novel will form one of the longest plays ever presented on a European stage, the adapters having worked it into fifty scenes, the performance of which will cover five successive evenings.
